

Shock Formation Observed by STEREO

C.T. Russell<sup>1</sup>, L.K. Jian<sup>1</sup>, X. Blanco-Cano<sup>2</sup>, J.G. Luhmann<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup>UCLA; <sup>2</sup>UNAM; <sup>3</sup>UCB

SHINE Session 3: Where and How Do Shocks Form in the Corona

- Region from 0.7 to 1.0 is shock incubator for SIRs
- Shocks strengthen by second shock overtaking first
- Weak laminar shocks do not form standing wave patterns for reasons originally proposed. Dissipation processes need to be re-examined